Issue 33

Although only a four day week, you will see from the photos on the next page how busy and engaged the children have been this week. Our year ones completed their Phonics Screening Check - with smiles on their faces and no pressure or stress whatsoever. We do not know the pass mark yet. Results will be on the children's end of year reports. I have spoken about attendance many times. Just before half-term, our inclusion officer from Surrey looked at our data. Although she was very pleased with the system we have in place to notify parents about poor attendance, she did suggest that some families could hit the threshold of being fined soon. This will only be after supportive meetings are held with families - but it is a very real possibility, if attendance/lates for some children do not improve. On a brighter notes, next week we have an author in to visit and read to all of the children and our photographer will be in to take photos of our year 2 leavers and general photos around the school for our website. Have a lovely weekend.

'What did you do today?' 'Nothing'

rhat's not true, take a look at this!

This week the Reception children have had a visit from a tiger .... a very greedy tiger, who stole all of the cookies! The children were brilliant at showing the tiger how to share. They could explain how to give equal amounts, to ensure that it was fair. Our key text this week was 'The Tiger Who Came to Tea.' The children came up with some super ideas for making traps and writing their own warning posters, which are all around the school to tell everyone about the naughty tiger! In phonics, the children have been consolidating their sounds within words and constructing sentences.

This week Year 1 children have enjoyed learning all about whales after reading the story 'Dear Greenpeace'. They have found it fascinating to learn how big they are compared to other animals and did a great job writing their facts to make a fact book. Our Science linked in with our learning about whales nicely as we are beginning to find out how to name and classify different types of animal and our focus for this week was mammals. In Maths the children have been learning vocabulary associated with the position and direction of objects. They learnt how to make quarter, half, three quarter and full turns and describe whether an object was to the left, right, above or below another object. For Art the children learnt about another artist called Kandinsky and recreated his artwork using concentric circles.

The children in Year 2 have come back from the half term holiday refreshed and enthusiastic about their learning. We just loved hearing about the many Jubilee celebrations they had had during the break, and they wrote about our school Jubilee Picnic, which we are sure you will agree, was a great success! It was wonderful to have our whole school community together on such a happy and sunny occasion! This week in Maths we have been revisiting some of the topics we have studied previously, including fractions (half, quarters, thirds, 2 quarters, 3 quarters) and symmetry. In History, we have begun to learn about Florence Nightingale, and why she is remembered. In Science we are beginning to look at minibeasts in the natural world. With just six weeks left of this term, there is much still to do, but we are planning some exciting events along the way – more details to follow and of course, we will support the children as they prepare for transition to their junior schools.
